The Corymb Group's

CLO - Cultivar Library of Ornamentals® is a complete solution for your information requirements. The library currently consists of over 40,000 commercially available cultivars and expands with every new release for the most comprehensive up to date library representation of varieties available today.

Eliminate the hours of research & data entry, forget the investigation of several sources of images and purchases of several DVDs that are normally wasted to acquire information and images for your product line.

Simply submit your product list, and we will deliver a Cultivar specific complete record set with information and images for each and every variety you offer .

You may then choose to download the information or receive the library and licensed images on your own DVD.

Once integrated with your software solution, Brandsoft or local inventory program, The CLO provides you with record sets available for the luxury of on demand printing of your customized marketing materials. Sales improve, labor and marketing costs decrease, and leftover inventory becomes a non issue.

If you are ready to accelerate your business with online presence or Business to Business transactions, The Corymb Group Development Team can assist you with a complete solution or integration of existing inventory systems to accommodate catalogues, sales orders, availability, all or any of your requirements.

The Cultivar Library of Ornamentals®

Over Two Decades in the Making

The CLO® provides a highly structured naming convention that facilitates accurate context based searches. The CLO® doesn't rely upon a single naming convention. It supports botanical names, the name of commercial prevalence, as well as common names. Each entry contains descriptive information, physical attributes such as flower and foliage character, height and spread, light tolerances, patent information, and more.

New introductions are available well in advance of the production season.

Professional High Quality Images

The Corymb Group has partnered with a professional photographer to include high quality photography. Licensed images with high resolution to the print size of 4 x 6 are included for each cultivar in your product line. Attractive durable bench cards, super marketing tags are mouse clicks away.

New Beginnings

Integrate the product information as the basis for tags, signs, catalogues, websites, online availability, program and price pages or begin a complete inventory management program integrated with the library. Enlist the horticultural and technological expertise of The Corymb Group for your complete solution.
